Dear Friend of Iranian Heritage Day at the ROM,

I am pleased to welcome you to the Royal Ontario’s Museum, one of Canada’s leading cultural institutions!

I am honoured to report that an annual Iranian Heritage Day has been established at the ROM, and it is a delight that you have joined us for our second annual event. With the establishment of this special program, Canada’s ever-growing Iranian community has reached another milestone which will allow more Canadians to connect with the richness and diversity of Iranian culture and civilization at Canada’s leading museum.

The Toronto Iranians Community Group, in affiliation with over ten other Iranian-Canadian organizations, has worked tirelessly to bring this unique event to life.

Given the fact that the ROM is Canada’s leading museum, focused on introducing Canadians to the world’s cultural and historical heritage, this is a great opportunity for the Iranian-Canadian community to showcase Iranian civilization to the broader Canadian society, and to build bridges of cross-cultural understanding.

I look forward to updating you on our future programs.

Greetings from the Minister of Citizenship, Immigration and Multiculturalism

I would like to extend my warmest greetings to all those attending the Iranian Heritage Day Gala Event, hosted by the Toronto Iranians Community Group. On behalf of Prime Minister Stephen Harper, I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for organizing this annual event which brings the community together in a festive cultural celebration.

This event is a wonderful opportunity to reflect upon the many aspects of Iranian culture that are celebrated here in Canada, and all the warm and enthusiastic people who keep these traditions alive. By inviting all members of the community to participate in this special day, we have an opportunity to honour and celebrate the contributions of the many Canadian men and women of Iranian descent who have endowed our country with their talents, skills and have contributed to the advancement of our multicultural society.

As Minister of Citizenship, Immigration and Multiculturalism, I am keenly aware of the many contributions that the Iranian community has made within Canada. Your community has long enriched our society with knowledge and talent, and your efforts continue to foster the social, economic and political facets of our country. As Prime Minister Harper once said, “We are proud to live in a country that embraces the many cultures and religions of the world. Our Government considers diversity one of this country’s greatest assets and we are committed to strengthening both our pluralism and our national unity.”

Best wishes for a successful event.

Sincerely,

The Honourable Jason Kenney, PC, MP
Minister of Citizenship, Immigration and Multiculturalism

Professor Elizabeth Langley

Professor Elizabeth Langley’s professional dance life spans fifty years and three countries. Australia provided her with dancer and teacher training, a performance and choreographing apprenticeship, and a seven-year period of professional life. New York, U.S.A. expanded her perceptions and experiences of the arts in general and offered her an opportunity to further her training at the Martha Graham School of Contemporary Dance. Her years in Canada can be divided into three phases – the first being concerned with teaching and directing original performances in universities and the community in Ottawa: the second being absorbed by designing and chairing of the Contemporary Dance Degree Program at Concordia University in Montreal; and the third and present phase being involved in performing, directing, consulting, dramaturging, teaching and researching in Canada, Finland, Turkey, Cuba and Australia.

Sashar Zarif Dance Theater

Sashar Zarif Dances creates work deeply rooted in the historical and cultural memories of many peoples. The company’s repertoire, often driven by narrative storytelling, aims to highlight the essence of what it means to be human while shedding a light on the darker aspects of humanity. It continues to build a unique, multi-disciplinary body of work connected to traditional art forms and cultures but offers it through the lens of a new and contemporary perspective. The company’s work is based on a foundation of research, education and creation. These three fundamentals enable me to discover and restore centuries-old work and present it to today’s audiences from a 21st century perspective. The company is a platform for artistic director Sashar Zarif’s work and his aim is to create work that touches audiences with a plural understanding and consciousness that is not “lost in translation.”

Eshareh

Inspired by the mysterious Caucasus Mountains, the tall standing cypress trees of Shiraz, and the desert nomads of Central Asia, “Eshareh” is an introduction to Sashar Zarif Dance Theatre’s next production, Rast Sama. Sashar zarif’s presentation in this event is the accumulated outcome of many years of research, study, practice and personal evolution. Through poetry, music, and dance, this form of integrated performance, introduced as Magham, expresses cultural spirituality and a philosophy of life. This ancient form originates in Iran, Azerbaijan, Uzbekistan, Tajikistan, and through Central Asia.

Abdollah Kiaie began calligraphy in a supportive home environment that fostered his interest in the art. Inspired by his grandfather at the age of five, later he followed the instructions of Master calligraphers such as Amirkhani and others. Thus, it resulted in obtaining Diploma Calligraphy of Persian and Arabic. Before his arrival in France in 1987, he worked in Iran as a calligrapher and graphic designer in various institutions and agencies (including Iranian television).

He taught in The Iranian Calligraphers Association (main body of calligraphy in Iran). In France, he helped to found the Parisian Associations, Ductus in 1991 and Calligraphist in 2000, while regularly exhibiting in France and abroad.

He continues to teach his style of Persian calligraphy, while pursuing his studies in graphic arts and research in Chinese calligraphy, Latin, and Indian in the fields of painting and pictorial practices.

Abdollah Kiaie also serves as a consultant to communication agencies, museums, the French National Education system and the National Library of France.

Abdollah Kiaie is engaged in visual research that detaches the viewer from the literal meaning of words. Instead, he adheres to the form, movement, space and rhythm of letters. These letters or calligraphic «elements», conform to the rules of the art of Persian calligraphy.

Abdollah Kiaie also employs them for their aesthetic and graphic value, however, propelling his calligraphy towards a visual language as well as an abstract mode of expression.

Now it’s difficult to call his artworks a mere calligraphy. They are a unique blend of abstract painting, calligraphy and graphic.

Dr. Keall was originally born in the UK, and trained in Greek and Latin literature. He first visited the Middle East on an adventure, in 1962. In 1970 (after learning the trade through practical experience in countries like Iran, Iraq and Turkey), he found himself a formal PhD-qualification by studying Islamic art at the University of Michigan. In the 1970s, when the ROM had a very active archaeological program in Iran, Ed Keall led an expedition to a mountain-top site on the extreme western edge of the country where he unearthed a treasure trove of sculptures and wall decorations from a war-lord’s fortress. The war-lord’s wealth came from extracting tolls from trade caravans that plied the famous Silk Road routes from Asia to the Mediterranean in the 2nd century AD. His stronghold was too formidably fortified for the Iranian state of that time to stop his activities. The residents of the area till today have kept alive legends of that time.

Ed Keall will talk about his interactions with those people, in the testy times when Ayatollah Khomeini was agitating for revolution. What was it like to be the director of a Canadian expedition in revolutionary Iran in the winter of 1978-1979?

Sashar Zarif Dance Theatre

Sama-e Rast

Reincarnation of an old practice of dance, music and poetry

Toronto Centre for the Arts
December 21, 2012

with Alim Qasimov & Ensemble

Majnunali is the integrated art of Poetry, Music, and Dance. Majnunali is the Sufi dhikr practice of rhythmic repetition and reiteration of phrases to free the soul and stretch it to the limits of the universe. Majnunali expresses and embodies life by walking on the vulnerable edge of emotions. The original form was called “Magnum” and contained poetry that was chanted and reincarnated itself in music and dance. During the passing of centuries, the dance element has disappeared but Zarif’s passionately driven research has reinterpreted and reincarnated the form back into the world. We can classify this form as the most integrated arts – in that, as well as the poetry, music and dance, Majnunali also expresses cultural spirituality and a philosophy of life. In the fall of 2012, the internationally acclaimed Majnunali master Alim Qasimov and his ensemble together with Sashar Zarif will premiere the result of eight years of research and collaboration with Alim Qasimov in Rast Sama. This will bring back to life the lost dance of Majnunali (raga Maqam).
